

“You Profiled Me”

- They were driving a BMW! In a questionable part of town and were pulled over. The young adults felt the officers acted like ‘a car this nice probably doesn’t belong to you’ and ‘what an expensive watch you have’. The young, black male driver filed a complaint.
- When they had a chance to sit down and talk, the black male explained how often he was pulled over and it just felt like harassment and profiling to him. The officer explained how at 200 feet, with the slightly tinted windows it wasn’t that he was profiling black males. The officer pulled him over because after following him, he looked like he was either evasive or something was up. The black adult said he was unfamiliar with that part of town and now certain of which turns to make. Both left understanding each other and how situations don’t always appear as they seem at first look.
